

January 8, 2020 - Stocking Up on tools and equipment

Wind, rain and snow are upon us. Seems like we got a reprieve that delivered November's weather in January. Working in the wind yesterday the driver's door on our van got blown out of my hand and bent the hinges so it does not open/close without damaging the fender.

OK, move slower with more care and watch out for our health. A time to repair and prepare.

It is hard to ease back when so much is yet to be done to build out our infrastructure on island. But, we do need to acquire more permanent equipment to implement that infrastructure and this is the time to work on that area which can be done in relative comfort as storms rage...

Then there are the end-of-year and quarterly financial chores and taxes to complete as well.

Ah and then we will have time to service and practice with the big tool in the picture above. It seems we are often in a position of needing to rent a Ditch Witch to cut trenches for our cabling. Well, no more. Meet the 900 pound ground circular saw! It is designed to cut a 2" wide trench up to 14" deep which is perfect for our cabling! At this time I know we have over a half mile of trenching that needs to be done.

So, hunker down by the heater with a cup of hot chocolate and hope we don't need to fire up the generator too often! ...Is it spring yet?

Peace, David
